

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE
CITY OF WILLMAR, MINNESOTA
THURSDAY, JUNE 27, 2013

MINUTES

The Community Development Committee of the Willmar City Council met on Thursday, June 27 2013, in Conference Room No.1 at the City Office Building. Chair Fagerlie called the meeting to order at 4:45pm.

Present:

Rick Fagerlie	Chair
Bruce DeBlieck	Council Member
Tim Johnson	Council Member
Jim Dokken	Council Member
Bruce Peterson	Director of Planning and Development Services

Others present: Frank Yanish – Mayor, Audrey Nelsen – Council Member, Megan DeSchepper – Planner, Stephen Deleski, and Roger Olson

1. PUBLIC COMMENTS (FOR INFORMATION ONLY)

There were no public comments.

2. GARBAGE/WASTE DISPOSAL (MOTION)

Due to a number of recent complaints regarding garbage storage and collection in the Central Business District, staff researched a variety of other regional centers to find out how they handled garbage and waste. Megan DeSchepper, City Planner reported briefly on the following cities:

Worthington - They employ a neighborhood service officer that can write citations for garbage. Appeals are heard by a hearing officer.

Brainerd - Administrative citations are issued to the owners of properties where violations occur. They also use an administrative hearing officer to hear appeals.

Hutchinson and Faribault- Their ordinances allow the city to abate the offense and assess costs against the property for those cases where it is a threat to health or safety.

The question was asked, "how can enforcement be done easier and more successfully?" Staff stated that under the current ordinances it is a challenge, as exterior storage violations are petty misdemeanors, though violations of the Municipal Code are misdemeanors.

Stephen Deleski of West Central Printing said he believes the biggest problems are the frequency of collection and the size of containers. Animal and produce waste should be double bagged and should be picked up daily, according to the Municipal Code. He said that if collection frequency was increased, the size of the containers could be reduced.

Roger Olson, from Diamond Vogel Paints, said he sees the garbage pile up across the street in the alley and in the lot behind the store. He has been corresponding with their corporate office to discuss relocating the store. The big issues seem to be the smell during the summer months and the fact that it piles up and blows around in the winter.

Council member Johnson suggested that the Community Service Officers doing downtown parking enforcement also enforce the City's garbage ordinances. He suggested that a task force be created to review and revise the ordinance and enforcement procedures.

Council member Dokken said the City needs to get some results so the downtown is cleaner and the Downtown Plan can be implemented.

It was suggested that the following topics be considered by a task force:

- Container size
- Screening of containers
- Bagging of waste
- Frequency of pickup
- CSO enforcement

A motion was made by Council member DeBlieck, seconded by Council member Johnson and passed for the following:

RECOMMENDATION: That Mayor Yanish appoint a task force to study the garbage issue and offer recommendations for improved storage and collection.

3. RESIDENTIAL ZONING ENFORCEMENT (FOR INFORMATION ONLY)

A brief analysis of zoning enforcement procedures was presented and reviewed by the Committee (See Attachment). Staff noted that it was a difficult process and that it took a lot of time to get compliance with some properties. The Council acknowledged that there were a number of areas of the community where these violations seem to be more prevalent. Staff said that a meeting was to be held the next day with the City Administrator, Police Chief and City Attorney to discuss the enforcement process for most neighborhood zoning violations. The Committee decided to wait until the Council meeting and get a report from staff regarding the outcome of that meeting.

4. RULE TIRE (FOR INFORMATION ONLY)

Staff was asked about the status of the Rule Tire Building. The response was that Habitat for Humanity had decided that they were not interested in purchasing or acquiring any of the property. They seem to be content to use the one building at the south end of the property. The Committee discussed the various possible outcomes if the City chooses not to accept the property as a gift. The most likely option would be to declare it as an unsafe building and order its removal. In that case, the City would probably end up removing the building and assessing it against the property owner or placing a lien on the property. It was suggested that it might be in the City's best interest to pursue the property as a gift. Staff told the Committee the owners of the property seemed to withdraw their offer to pay the delinquent property taxes. It was a consensus of the Committee that staff pursue the acquisition of the property as a gift, and that the delinquent tax matter be negotiated. Staff said they would try to negotiate an agreement in principle and bring a proposal back to the Committee for review and consideration.

5. There being no further business to come before the Committee, the meeting adjourned at 6:20pm.

Respectfully Submitted,

Originating Department: Planning and Development Services

Agenda Item: Garbage/Waste Disposal

Recommended Action: To be determined

Background/Summary: The City continues to receive complaints about garbage and waste collection/disposal primarily in the Central Business District. The Committee will discuss the current Municipal Code and rental ordinance standards for garbage collection. Downtown business owners may be present to participate in the discussion.

Alternatives: 1. Make changes to the City's regulatory devices to address new issues
2. To leave the ordinances/codes as is.

Financial Considerations: Changing the ordinances has no major financial impact on the City, as long as a reasonable means of enforcement is part of those changes. Changes to collection and disposal requirements could have a financial impact on businesses.

RESIDENTIAL ZONING ENFORCEMENT

Zoning enforcement is handled by the City Planner, Building Official, and Building Inspector. Exterior storage violations include items such as garbage, furniture, unlicensed vehicles, appliances, and improper off-street vehicle parking. Exterior storage is regulated by the Zoning Ordinance. The process of zoning enforcement often starts with a complaint regarding a property. Staff views the property from the street (or abutting property), writes out a high visibility community enhancement form (lists violations, Ordinance requirements, timeframe for compliance, and violations/penalties). Staff attempts to personally notify the homeowner or tenant if home (or leaves the notice in the door) and mails a copy to the homeowner of record (and rental manager). Staff returns to the property after the allotted time to check for compliance. If in compliance, no further action is taken; if violations remain, photos are taken and a copy of the photos and violation notice are submitted to the Police Department for ticketing. A court date is set, and the City Attorney handles the prosecution of the offense.

This process has worked fairly well; the biggest issues are with rental properties that have absentee landlords and repeat violations. Foreclosed properties have also been a problem, as it takes so long to locate anyone responsible for the property maintenance etc. In years past, staff would take a proactive stance and do sweeps of neighborhoods in spring/summer/fall writing up visible violations. Due to job responsibility shifts and work load, zoning enforcement has been on a complaint basis only.

Citizen, as well as staff, frustrations with the process are the drawn out timeframe, and limited power for cleanup of property. Staff can notify and talk to violators, but penalties for violations are up to the courts. Zoning violations tied up the court system with the misdemeanor violation. In 2011 the Kandiyohi County court system asked the City to revise the Zoning Ordinance so first violations of the Ordinance would be a petty misdemeanor and any subsequent violations a misdemeanor. The court system was inundated, and this was to alleviate warrants out for people for garbage violations, which the court system considers a petty misdemeanor issue. This change, however, did nothing to speed up the process or orders for cleanup. Often staff/citizens wait for the matter to go through the court system and the violator is let off easy or with a minor fine, sometimes the property owner is not even ordered to clean up the violation. Staff's only recourse is to write the property up again and start the process all over. One solution could be the City Attorney requesting judges to take zoning violation cases more seriously and require abatement/stiffer fines. Better communication between staff and the City Attorney is needed for staff to track court action.

Staff has researched other communities to see ways to improve the process. Some communities have a section to deal with repeat offenders. There are certain properties that staff becomes quite familiar with as they consistently violate ordinances, then clean up the property for a few weeks or months, only to slowly go back to old habits. Cities with ordinances for repeat offenders cite the matter once in a calendar year and any subsequent violations can be forwarded onto the court system without going through the notification paperwork process. Violators get an initial warning and education on the laws, and any violation after that results in immediate prosecution.

Another process to consider would be an administrative citation. Similar to a parking ticket, a fine ticket could be issued for violators that have not abated a zoning violation. This would hit the violators in the pocket immediately, and be a faster way for them to go to court if not paid. The funds could possibly be put in a special fund to help with cleanup efforts on foreclosed properties that the city ends up dealing with and assessing the property for.

Another tool staff uses to deal with zoning violations includes door hanger notices on garbage cans. Similar to door hanger notices for power termination, the notice is left on garbage cans that get left at the curb for weeks instead of only being put out on pick up day. The reminder works most of the time, those that ignore the notice then get a full high vis citation.

Staff uses an issue tracker (computer program created by IT), where a complaint is logged and staff can make notations on the process. These are private logs, as per State Statute zoning complaints are confidential. It's a good way to keep track of multiple violations and where they are in the notification/abatement process.

There also is an exterior maintenance ordinance that has only ever been used on a complaint basis, with minimal success. It's a minimum standards code, so the exterior surface (i.e. paint) has to get pretty bad to exceed the 20% peeling required for a citation. Many times the complaints that we do get find the properties aren't bad enough to warrant a citation. Neighbors don't understand that we are limited in our power. A piece of plywood over a broken out window technically is not a violation of any code except the rental code, and it keeps the weather out. To have this Ordinance be more effective, the Ordinance would need to be amended to meet a higher standard than the minimums that are currently set.

Overall, a majority of properties are well maintained and kept up. However, the ones that are being neglected seem to be getting worse. There is a lack of personal pride and sense of ownership in rental properties, and absentee landlords are always an issue. The minimum codes and drawn out legal processes do not meet the standard or look citizens want for the neighborhoods. Staff is stuck in the middle of neighborhood disputes and difficult to deal with property owners, tenants etc. Some property owners think staff is being petty when written up, but on the other hand, the person calling in the complaint thinks we should have the violation taken care of immediately and doesn't recognize the legal paper work process. Neighbors tattle on one another or think they are being picked on so they retaliate.

One property gets cleaned up and another 15 need attention. It's a never ending cycle, with new landlords buying out old slumlords but to continue on the same path. If staff had more power, whether it be fines or even a cleanup fund to cover garbage bills or cans of paint, it would help. Some communities even have neighborhood groups that keep an eye on neighborhoods and assist with notifications and documentation. Neighbors don't know their neighbors anymore; people don't approach each other about the stack of tires in the yard that's an eye sore or an appliance in the back yard. Perhaps some grass roots efforts would help. Staff will continue their diligent efforts, but it's up to the Council to set new policy if they wish to see a different standard for neighborhoods.
